Gag Charged In Legislature By Republican

LANSING (AP) — Contending Speaker Joseph Kowalski could start a dangerous trend by suppressing dissent, a House Republican demanded Friday his explanation of a "no" vote be printed in the House Journal.

The vote was against a Democratic-sponsored veterans property tax exemption measure which passed the House over vigorous Republican objections Friday and went to the Senate.

Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, attempted to read into the Journal an analysis of a veterans bill backed by Republican Gov. George Romney.

But his remarks were kept out of Friday's Journal after House Majority Leader J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, gave notice he would move Monday to have the remarks expunged. The House would have to vote on that question.

Contempt Threatened

In earlier debate, Kowalski threatened to hold Swallow in contempt of the Legislature.

Swallow questioned the Democrats' motives for wanting to grant an across-the-board increase in veterans property tax exemptions.

"Perhaps you are trying to save your consciences," he said. "After all, it was your party, wasn't it, that sent our boys off to fight and die."

He was interrupted by desk.

Milliken For Senate Effort Being Opposed

ST. CLAIR (AP) — Backers of Sen. Guy VanderJagt of Cadillac were claiming what amounted to the lead in the race for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate today.

Meanwhile, backers of Lt. Gov. William Milliken were trying to keep him out of the Senate race.

The race for the GOP nomination for U.S. Senate was the main issue as the Republican State Central Committee gathered for a mid-winter meeting. More than 250 delegates were expected.

Other candidates continued campaigning for the party's nod to run for the seat of Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich.

One of the most vigorous campaigns was carried on by Prof. Leroy Augenstein, chairman of the Michigan State University biophysics program.

U.S. Rep. Robert Griffin, regarded by many as the strongest candidate, was not expected to arrive until today.

VanderJagt claimed the backing of the majority of county and district chairmen from the three county metropolitan Detroit area. He met with them late Friday night and said:

"They issued a statement saying they were extremely impressed with me and that they preferred me to any other candidate."

Drive Against Cong Shaping

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A giant allied military operation against the Viet Cong in the central coastal plains of South Viet Nam shaped up tonight as the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division committed a second brigade and American Marines on the northern flank started to move south.

On the perimeter of a 15 square mile area were two South Vietnamese airborne units and elements of the South Korean Marines.

The U.S. Marines in the north, a task force of multiple regiment size, has been on the scene as the top end of the nutcracker since an amphibious landing eight days ago.

The air cavalry now is operating on division level, a U.S. Army spokesman said.

What lies between the slowly converging forces may be as many as four or five regiments of hard-core Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars. The prize is the biggest of the war.

The evolution of what could become a huge battle around Bong Son, 290 miles northeast of Saigon, grew out of the 1st Cavalry's successful probes against Viet Cong territory in the past week. The troops found not only hard-core battalions but also one whole North Vietnamese regiment and another regiment which was about half and half of both types.

Hotel Fire In Detroit Kills 2

DETROIT (AP) — Two persons were killed and five others injured early today as a multiple-alarm fire swept through the four-story Montclair Hotel in downtown Detroit.

Two of the hotel's 52 guests died in the blaze and two others were injured. Police identified the dead as Joseph Sampson, 33, and James Crawford, 60, both of Detroit.

LBJ Flies To Hawaii For War Review; Aid To Viet

Trip Stealing Thunder From Congress Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's mid-Pacific conference on Viet Nam appears aimed at underscoring "country building" economic and social aspects of the U.S. effort, rather than heralding any dramatic new military direction in the war.

Johnson also may be trying to give Asia — and the rest of the world — a picture of a U.S. president journeying thousands of miles to Honolulu to meet South Viet Nam's top leaders and confer with them as equals. The Communists often have derided Saigon's leaders as puppets.

Announcement of the trip came against a backdrop of rising Senate criticism of the administration's Viet Nam course.

Overshadows Inquiry

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which grilled Secretary of State Dean Rusk for four hours last Friday, gave Foreign Aid Administrator David E. Bell an all-day working over Friday and scheduled more hearings for next week.

Not only will Johnson's trip overshadow any news from the hearings but the President is taking along Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and presidential adviser, who had been announced as the committee's witness for next Monday.

The makeup of the U.S. party was heavily weighted on the side of officials concerned with diplomatic, economic and social facets of the multibillion-dollar U.S. program to preserve South Viet Nam's independence and transform it into a viable state.

Inflation Problem

One nagging problem the conferees may tackle at Honolulu is that of inflation, which has grown seriously with the heavy influx of U.S. money into the Vietnamese civilian economy.

Over the last 11 years or so U.S. economic aid to Viet Nam has outweighed the military aid. Economic help totaled $3 billion and military assistance $2 billion, not including new requests to Congress.

Greece Quake Destroys Towns

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A series of earthquakes rocked central Greece before dawn today, killing at least one person, injuring more than 50 and leaving hundreds homeless.

The Greek government declared a state of emergency in the area and sent army rescue teams and medical supplies.

The tremor's epicenter was near Karditsa, about 150 miles northwest of Athens. The towns of Fourni, Alesia and Krenti were totally destroyed and 10 other settlements left 80 per cent uninhabitable, reports said.

A 30-year-old mother of six children died when she was caught in the collapse of her farm house.

2nd Diphtheria Case Reported

DETROIT (AP) — City health officials said Friday a second case of diphtheria has been discovered in the neighborhood where a 4-year-old boy died of the highly contagious disease.

Dr. Paul Salchow, epidemiologist with the Detroit Health Department, said, "We weren't surprised to find another case. We would be very disturbed to find more, but again we wouldn't be surprised."

"I wouldn't call this an epidemic yet, but we're taking every precaution."

David Jaime, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Jaime, showed a positive reaction to the test, Salchow said. He attended Preston Elementary School.

Brothers and sisters of Lonnie Hill, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bozy Hill, also attended the school. Lonnie died Monday of diphtheria. The Hills and the Jaimes live a block apart.

Young Jaime and five of his brothers and sisters were hospitalized. David for treatment and the others for observation.

Negro Voters Eviction OK'd

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A federal judge has thrown out a Justice Department suit against Louisiana plantation owners accused of evicting Negroes for trying to vote.

U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West of Baton Rouge said property rights are sacred and the Voting Rights Act is "flagrantly violative of the Constitution."

The 34-page typewritten decision was filed Friday in the first court test on the voting intimidation section of the Voting Rights Act.

Judge West, a frequent critic of civil rights decisions, said even if he is wrong about the Voting Rights Act being unconstitutional, the government had failed to prove its case against the landowners.

The judge set aside a temporary restraining order issued in December to prevent the West Feliciana Parish landowners from evicting tenants until a decision was reached.

"Congress simply does not have the power, under the authority granted it by the Constitution, to provide for the punishment of purely individual actions tending to interfere with a person's right to vote in state or local elections," he said.

The opinion also said: "If we were to hold for one fleeting moment that, even to protect one's right to vote, a person could, in effect, be deprived of his rights to the undisturbed ownership, possession and use of his own private property, we would be abrogating much more of the Constitution than we would be preserving."

During the trial in December, several Negro sharecroppers testified they were forced to move from their tenant farm houses because they registered to vote.

Three Days Of Talks With Key Govt. Men Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson flies to Hawaii today to review the course of the Viet Nam war and to step up the flow of American health, education and farm aid to beleaguered Vietnamese villagers.

The President announced at a news conference in his office Friday that he will hold three days of talks in Honolulu with South Vietnamese leaders and U.S. diplomatic and military officials in South Viet Nam. Johnson will be accompanied by four Cabinet officers and other top advisers.

His announcement came amid renewed congressional criticism of the administration's Viet Nam policies following the refusal of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to testify at a future public session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Hawaii Conferences

Among those who will meet with Johnson in Hawaii are South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland. Accompanying Johnson will be Secretary of State Dean Rusk, McNamara, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

Johnson said he would remain in Hawaii until Tuesday night, returning here sometime Wednesday.

The dual military-civilian nature of the complete review Johnson said would be made of the U.S. program held out a promise that the American effort will be rounded out to reach the rice paddy workers some in Congress have been calling the forgotten men of the war.

No Shift Planned

Johnson made it clear, however, that the meetings are not going to be the prelude to any major shift in military policy such as some of his critics have been demanding.

"That is not anticipated at all," he said. "I wouldn't anticipate... making any changes one way or the other." But he added: "I wouldn't say that we wouldn't learn some things from the meeting that would cause us

Russians Denied Own Moon Photos

MOSCOW (AP) — Photos sent from the moon by the Soviet Union's Luna 9 were seen today by newspaper readers almost everywhere except in the Soviet Union.

Soviet officials continued to withhold the pictures from public view. Instead, Soviet newspaper readers saw such headlines as "Dream Coming True" and "We'll Be Seeing You, Moon!"

Papers also published pictures of two pennants aboard the spacecraft and photos of the moon taken through telescopes on earth, but gave no indication when the close-up photos received from Luna 9 would be released.

"The information received is being analyzed by scientists and will soon be published," the Soviet Academy of Sciences announced.

The academy said Luna 9 was to complete "the fulfillment of the set program for lunar research" with a radio broadcast today beginning at 11 a.m. EST. The announcement did not indicate what would happen after that.

The Soviet military newspaper Red Star disclosed that the spacecraft had landed slightly off target after its 3½-day flight but gave no further details.

First Soft Landing

Luna 9's radio began transmitting photographs of the rock-strewn landscape after the unmanned spacecraft made history's first soft landing on the moon Thursday night.

The British observatory at Jodrell Bank intercepted the signals, fed them through a newspaper's Wirephoto equipment and converted the dots of

Soapy Still Silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Mennen Williams, the one-time "boy wonder" of Michigan politics, is maintaining a discreet silence in the face of speculation he plans to resign as assistant secretary of state for African affairs to run for the U.S. Senate.

Anything he could say, Williams said in an interview today, might appear as an attempt to force the hand of Democratic Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, 72, who has declined to say if he will seek a third term this year.

"I have respect for the senator, I supported him," said Williams, who served as governor for 12 years before President John F. Kennedy appointed him to the State Department post five years ago. Elected governor at 37, Williams will be 55 this month.

Showed Interest

Last October, Williams acknowledged he would consider a race for the Senate if McNamara decides to retire. Asked about this today, Williams said he would not repeat the statement.

Even if McNamara retires, Williams would not necessarily have a clear path to the Democratic nomination for senator. Detroit's 38-year-old Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, fresh from a resounding re-election triumph last November, said Jan. 7 he was giving "most serious consideration" to a race for the Senate.

McNamara said Friday he thought he would make a decision by April 1 but declined to say what the decision would be. "I have no idea," he said, "the timing is not too important. There is no reason to be tied down on it."

Deadline June 14

The filing deadline for Michigan's Aug. 2 primary is June 14. Although Gov. George Romney has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for the Senate, most Republican congressmen here expect him to seek a third term as governor. The length of the gubernatorial term is being increased from two to four years.

Sources close to Williams say that the possible candidacy of Cavanagh has confused the political picture in Michigan. However, the same sources claimed that the former governor would enjoy support from many of the state's top leaders if he decides to make the race.

Kennedy Appointer

Despite Williams' silence, he frequently returns to Michigan to make speeches, mainly to the state's minority groups. The speeches, however, deal almost exclusively with affairs of Africa, his main concern for the last five years.

"I always enjoyed this job, it was a tremendous challenge

Delta To Draft Married Men In March Calls

Married men without families will be called in March to fill Delta County's draft quotas, according to Mary M. Wagner, clerk of Local Draft Board No. 21 in Escanaba.

State Selective Service officials announced Friday that Delta County's induction quota for March was 24 men. Pre-induction will call 36 more.

Miss Wagner said orders to men selected will be mailed next week.

"Indications are that these calls cannot be filled entirely with single men and men married after Aug. 26, 1965," she said. "Married men without children who were married prior to Aug. 26, will be called to complete the quotas."

Quotas Increase
Because of the war in Viet Nam, draft calls have jumped sharply across the nation. President Johnson last year revoked an order by the late President Kennedy exempting all married men from the draft.

The 36 men selected for March pre-induction will report March 1. Inductees are scheduled to leave Escanaba March 7.

Thirty-six men in the February pre-induction group have been ordered to report to the local Selective Service office, 1103 Ludington St., at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday for transportation to the Milwaukee examination center by charter bus. Men who have had orders mailed to out-of-town residences must return to Escanaba to leave with the group or present themselves to a Board of Transfer to request they be transferred.

February Group Leaves
Ordered to report for pre-induction Tuesday are:

From Escanaba - John F. LaFave, leader of the group, Thomas A. Forvilly, John M. Frappier, Albin T. Larson, Raymond C. McDonald, John R. Christianson (order mailed to Monmouth, Ky.), and Antonio M. Romani;
From Gladstone - Francis J. Brunette, Michael P. Bruntjens, Michael F. Gobert, Richard J. Roman, Larry D. Shirk, Eugene M. Drossart, and Howard W. Olson;

From Bark River - Leonard Skrobaki, Lawrence J. Erickson, Wayne L. Gagnon (order mailed to Crete, Ill.), and Roger T. Rieber.

Also ordered to report are: Robert L. Maki, Robert W. Salmi (order mailed to Saginaw), of Rock; Peter P. Ward, William H. McDermott Jr., William P. Guertin, Calvin J. Richard, James B. Tatrow, and Thomas H. LaButte of Garden; Thomas W. Koski of Rapid River; William F. Thomas, James D. Novak, and Lawrence Nadeau of Ensign; Rodney B. Gierke and Terry L. Ranguette of Fayette; Lawrence J. Guenette of Schaffer (order mailed to Two Rivers, Wis.); Walter T. Eagle of Brampton; and John J. Falkes and Robert M. Lauscher of Cornell.

Wm. Perryman Dies Friday

William Perryman, 60, died Friday morning at Mercy Hospital in Muskegon. He had been in ill health for the past several months. He had been employed in a machine shop in Muskegon.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Mary) Caron of Escanaba; one sister, Mrs. Florence (Beaudin) Hull of Garden Grove, Calif. and one brother, Charles Perryman Sr. of Escanaba.

The body has been taken to the Lee Funeral Home, 2812 5th St., Muskegon Heights and funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Monday.

light and shade into sharp pictures that were then relayed to much of the world.

Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank director, said the pictures were "quite sensational." He indicated he was puzzled that Soviet officials released some information on them but did not publish the pictures themselves. "I don't know the reason for that," he said, "but it is slightly strange in that they have taken the trouble to announce the frequency and transmitted on standard scanning lines."

Lovell said it was possible the Russians deliberately intended to have Jodrell Bank's sensitive, 250-foot-wide radio antenna pick up the photos. "I doubt if the Russians are getting better pictures," he added.

The huge, saucer-shaped radio telescope monitored three complete pictures in 45 minutes. The fourth was of poor quality. Lovell said Luna 9 apparently was landed so it would be in sunlight for 14 days. Transmission could be expected over that period, he said, but it was not known what would happen after the equipment package was plugged into the lunar night.

Lovell said the first few photographs "tend to confirm the view that the moon's surface is hard, spongy-like and of a pumice stone substance. It would be perfectly satisfactory, not only for the landing of men, but for heavy vehicles."

The scientist said that the dust on the moon's surface seemed to be only a few inches thick in the area photographed.

In Tucson, Ariz., Dr. Gerard Kuiper, chief U.S. experimenter on moon shots, said it was good to hear that the dust was not deep.

"We don't have to worry about this any more," he said, but added that the jagged lava-like surface was nothing like earth. "No one is going to walk very far on this," he said.

Another U.S. scientist said the photos of that part of the moon were not typical of areas photographed by America's Ranger moon shots.

Dr. Eugene Shoemaker, a Ranger experimenter from the U.S. Geological Survey, said the photos show "substantially more blocky protuberances than any we saw with Ranger."

"I am surprised by the angularity of the blocks and of their abundance," he added. "If they are representative of the moon's surface it is a very great surprise indeed." Shoemaker said Luna 9 may have landed inside or just outside the rim of a crater.

America's Ranger 9 spacecraft transmitted 5,815 photos of the moon just before it crashed in a crater last March. Two previous Ranger flights sent a total of 11,000 pictures.

The first U.S. attempt at a soft landing is expected in May, and probably will require several tries. The U.S. program lacks much information about the failure of the four unsuccessful Soviet efforts that preceded the Luna 9 triumph.

City Airport Heads Capital Outlay Program

Improvements to the Escanaba municipal airport are given "No. 1 priority" in the city's capital improvement program for 1966-67 by the capital improvement committee, reports City Manager George Harvey.

The committee followed the expressed wish of the Council in placing the airport project at the top of the list. The committee is composed of Mayor George Rusch, City Manager Harvey, Public Works Superintendent Ken Tushak, John Flath of the engineering department, Controller Frank Bourke, and Milton Embs, administrative assistant.

The proposed needed improvements will total about $150,000. Largest item is the airport development project.

One Of Five
"We have proposed that $80,000 be incorporated in the forthcoming budget to initiate this work, and the balance of $80,000 be committed in the 1967-68 budget to complete this work," the city manager has informed the Council.

The committee recommends five projects as "needed improvements as of this moment" in Escanaba:

- 1-The airport at a cost this year of $80,000.
- 2-Heating city building at a cost of $16,000.
- 3-Construction of a storm sewer at the Golf Club at a cost of $18,375.
- 4-The rehabilitation of the storm sewer in the area of 5th St. and 1st Ave. at a cost of $12,000.
- 5-The continued program of paving improvement, to cost an estimated $27,173.

The estimated cost of the five project totals about $150,000. The Council has been requested to study the proposed program submitted by the committee and to make recommendations.

Budget Study
The city manager, advised the Council that he is conferring with Ken Buckland, engineering consultant, on the airport improvement project and that "we are hopeful we will have this finalized by April 1 for submission to the Michigan Department of Aeronautics Board."

The construction of a new terminal building at a relocated site is a part of the proposed improvement program at the airport. Some assistance in state and federal funds will be forthcoming on a matching basis.

The work of the city's capital outlay committee is part of the total effort toward arriving at a budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The Council will also review budget requests of the various departments and will arrive at a final budget figure in May.

Managers Meeting
The city manager directed attention of the Council to a request of the Municipal Band for new uniforms. The cost would be about $5,000. Replacement of worn uniforms rather than a complete new outfitting is being considered.

Harvey will be in Ann Arbor next week to attend a school for Michigan City Managers, of which he is vice president. He will moderate one of the sessions.

One of the features will be an "in depth discussion of the administration of fire departments," to be opened with a review of the problem by George Bean, former manager of Grand Rapids and once city manager in Escanaba, now retired.

A panel of managers, personnel directors and fire chiefs will review various ways of scheduling the new 56-hour week for firemen and present individual studies and observations.

January Bridge Tolls A Record

ST. IGNACE — Mackinac Bridge traffic and revenues continued their record-breaking pace with January crossings establishing new all-time highs for the first month of any years since the bridge opened in November of 1957. Traffic was up 12.5 per cent over January of a year ago, from 28,549 vehicles to 32,111. Revenues increased 9.9 per cent from $144,372 to $158,672.

Job Training Gets Accent

The Upper Peninsula Educational Planning Council will meet Friday, Feb. 18 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Richard Rinehart, president of Bay de Noc Community College in Escanaba, will give a progress report on an area vocational study which he has directed for Schoolcraft, Delta and Menominee counties. Also scheduled is a report of school district reorganization studies in Michigan by George Schutte, Lansing, assistant superintendent of the State Department of Education.

At the last meeting of the UPEPC, held in Norway in December, Upper Peninsula educators heard a report on the elementary, secondary education act. George Stewart, educational consultant with the Michigan Department of Education, said projects being designed under Title I of the Elementary, Secondary Education Act should focus on those students who have the greatest need for special assistance.

It was also pointed out that vocational-technical educational services have been inadequate in terms of meeting modern labor market needs. The group agreed that in order to be adequate, vocational training opportunities should be provided in 15 to 20 occupational areas. Districts having 3,000 to 5,000 public and non-public high school students would have sufficient resources to provide these programs, it was agreed.

Under current state law, smaller districts can cooperatively provide programs in two different ways: By requesting community colleges to provide programs on an area basis or by financing such programs on an intermediate school district basis.

The Upper Peninsula Educational Planning Council is a section of the state cooperative curriculum committee. Donald Brumbaugh of Norway is chairman and Donald G. Butcher of the State Department of Education is serving as consultant.

Rock

The Community Action Agency office in Rock will be closed Tuesday, Feb. 8, due to an area representative meeting in Escanaba, according to Mrs. Sylvester Wiitala. The office is open from Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Rock Town Hall.

Miss Linda Pokela, freshman at Suomi College, is the Michigan Tech University Winter Carnival Queen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pokela, former Rock Co-op store manager.

Attending the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bloomquist of Bethany Beach, Sawyer, Mich., on Saturday, Feb. 5, is Mrs. Ernest Vallier who left for Chicago Friday morning. From Chicago she will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Earle to Sawyer Lake. Mr. Bloomquist is her cousin. Albert, Carl and Ernest Vallier left Saturday morning for Elgin, Ill., where they will pick up Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson to attend the party. Mr. Bloomquist is their uncle.

Over 3,000 Bills Are In Prospect

LANSING (AP) — Legislators could have as many as 3,062 bills to consider this year, although the figure probably will be about 600 below that.

A total of 1,234 bills are on holdover status from 1965 and legislators have asked the Legislative Service Bureau to draft 1,848 new measures this year.

On Friday, deadline for requests to the bureau, lawmakers came in with 487 requests.

Lincoln Day:

Lt. Gov. Milliken To Address GOP

The Lincoln Day dinner, traditional Republican event, will be held for the area on Tuesday, March 1 to permit the appearance of William G. Milliken, the lieutenant governor of Michigan, as the speaker.

Attorney Arthur A. Nieman, Escanaba, chairman of the Delta County Republican Committee, announced that the dinner program will be at the Terrace Supper Club and that the public is invited.

The committee is completing plans for the event and the details of the program will be announced soon. Announcement of places where tickets may be obtained will also be made shortly.

Milliken is a native of Traverse City, and is a former Michigan state senator, elected in 1960, reelected in 1962, and formerly chairman of the Senate Committee on Education and a member of influential Senate committees.

As Michigan's lieutenant governor and Gov. Romney's "right hand man" he is recognized as one of the state's able and outstanding men in government.

He attended public schools in Traverse City, is a graduate of Yale University, served three years in the Army Air Force and flew 50 combat missions in World War II. He was wounded and received the Purple Heart.

His experience in business (he is president of the J. W. Milliken Inc. Department Store) is combined with a keen interest in affairs of government, both state and local.

His interests include service to the Boy Scouts, the Chamber of Commerce, past president of Scenic Trails Inc., and he is a former trustee of Northwestern Michigan College and a director of Greater Michigan Inc. He is married and has a son and daughter.

Brothers and sisters of the deceased, living in Delta County are: Glen Lundin, Mrs. Adolf Lundberg, Ensign, Mrs. Fred Ames, Rapid River, Mrs. Bert Ames, Harry Lundin, Gladstone, Oscar Nelson, Oja Rest Home, and Mrs. Mary Peterson of Chicago.

Mrs. McPherson's surviving children are four daughters and three sons. Her son Carl, 47, also died on Feb. 1, two hours after his mother's death, of a heart attack. Funeral services will be held Friday, Feb. 4 in Chicago. Several of the brothers and sisters will attend the funeral.

Greatest Events In American History No. 3

THE IDEA IS BORN THAT AMERICA IS A LAND FOR FREEDOM OF RELIGION
"Congress shall make no law prohibiting the free exercise of religion."
These words, found in our Bill of Rights, guarantee Freedom of Religion to all Americans.
And this Freedom of Religion is one of the cornerstones on which America was built because it was the desire for it that brought our most famous early settlers — the Pilgrims — to this land.
In England people were persecuted for religious beliefs. Seeking a place where they could practice religion freely, the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock in 1620.
Their arrival was a milestone in our history, for they contributed much to our development, but the greatest gift they gave was the idea that America was a land where people could come and actually be guaranteed the right to worship as they pleased.

Everybody Rich

The proposal of a 14-member National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress to President Johnson that every American family be guaranteed a minimum annual income has brought a little flurry of letters to this newspaper inviting comment. The inquiries indicate that critical comment is expected. Expressions like "Not the Great Society, but the Great Socialistic State" and "What happened to individual pride and initiative?" are typical of the comments.

As many as 35 million Americans could be affected by such a program if the minimum income level were pegged at $3,000. The cost to the taxpayers was estimated at up to $20 billion yearly.

The technologists and economists, with gazing ball in hand, said that if all productivity gains in prospect for the next 20 years were taken in increased income, a person's earnings would jump from $3,181 a year to $5,802. If the gains were taken in leisure instead of income, the work week could be cut to 22 hours, or the retirement age could be lowered to 38.

The study group said the federal government should employ persons who can't find work elsewhere, that every young American should be given two years of free schooling beyond high school, that blue collar workers should get salaries and not hourly wages and that Social Security benefits should be increased and public welfare programs made more generous.

This sort of scientific day dreaming offends some persons and excites others. Persons who struggle to pay their taxes will be apt to say: "Isn't it bad enough now; are we going to have to pay for such a huge boondoggle besides?" Others, impressed with the almost unlimited capacity of machines to produce goods and with the great advances that have already been made in the American standard of living, will reason that something like what is being recommended may actually happen.

Productivity does increase. The demands of the unions for a bigger share of income speeds the process by mechanizing and automating production. The wage pressures may be self-defeating but they exist and there's no prospect that they will disappear.

The recommendations offend American economic orthodoxy because it still is so strongly colored by the Puritan ethic which has influenced American life from colonial days. This ethic suggests that idleness is the devil's playground; that the frugal fellow and not the big spender is the good citizen; that hard work and saving are the ways to success.

Actually hard work and saving still are the ways to success. They were once, in a sterner and more self-reliant American society, the needs for survival, but with our change from pastoral to industrial living we have created the welfare state. We now reason that the industrial worker can't make his own job any more, like a small farmer once did, and so when he's out of work, incapacitated, lazy or otherwise not active, he must be cared for.

This situation led many persons to predict, when the working day was cut from 12 to 10 hours, that America was going to hell in a handbasket and that there wouldn't be enough wood shingles made to cover the houses; that the grocers would go broke and their customers would starve. But it didn't happen.

It won't happen even if the recommendations of the National Commission on Technology are implemented, either, because they can only be effected if the means are available. But there are some serious impediments to their realization and especially to their effectiveness.

We've been told that America's big cities will be black cities in a few years because the Negroes have such large families and they flood into the vacuum of metropolitan cores abandoned by newly affluent whites moving to the suburbs. This would create a problem not of color but of standards. The problem exists already in huge size and is America's greatest domestic problem. We have not yet made impressive progress in lifting the American Negro to a position of full citizenship, economically.

Whether a $3,000 minimum income for every family would do that is doubtful. What would be created would be a welfare class, with the assured government income as apt to stultify ambition as to spur it on to greater achievement.

The proposal that everyone be assured a $3,000 income recalls the story of the old couple driving into town from the country in their horse and buggy. They came upon a sign saying: "Speed Limit 25 Miles." The old man said to the old lady: "I'll use the reins and you use the whip. I don't think we can go that fast, but if it's the law we gotta try!"

The dislocations of affluence and its tendency to affect the population spottily influence reaction to "riches for everybody" programs strongly. Socialization has made such progress since the New Deal that the new proposal won't cause the shock waves it once would have. And by the same token people are more sophisticated and they'll sense that it won't be as good as it pretends; that really the "new rich" in the low income groups will be a special kind of "new poor." Dr. Townsend must be laughing.

Through The Haze

Physicists at the University of Michigan have reported achieving the first accurate measurement of the gyromagnetic ratio of the free positron, the antimatter counterpart of the electron.

This may sound like doubletalk to most of us, but to representatives at the American Physical Society meeting held in New York recently, the news constituted another important step in nailing down modern theories about the ultimate structure of matter and the universe.

The antimatter positron and the electron are among the tiniest charged particles in the atom. They are like tiny spinning bar magnets, the physicists explain. The gyromagnetic ratio, or "g-factor," is the ratio of the particle's spin to its magnetic moment or magnetic force.

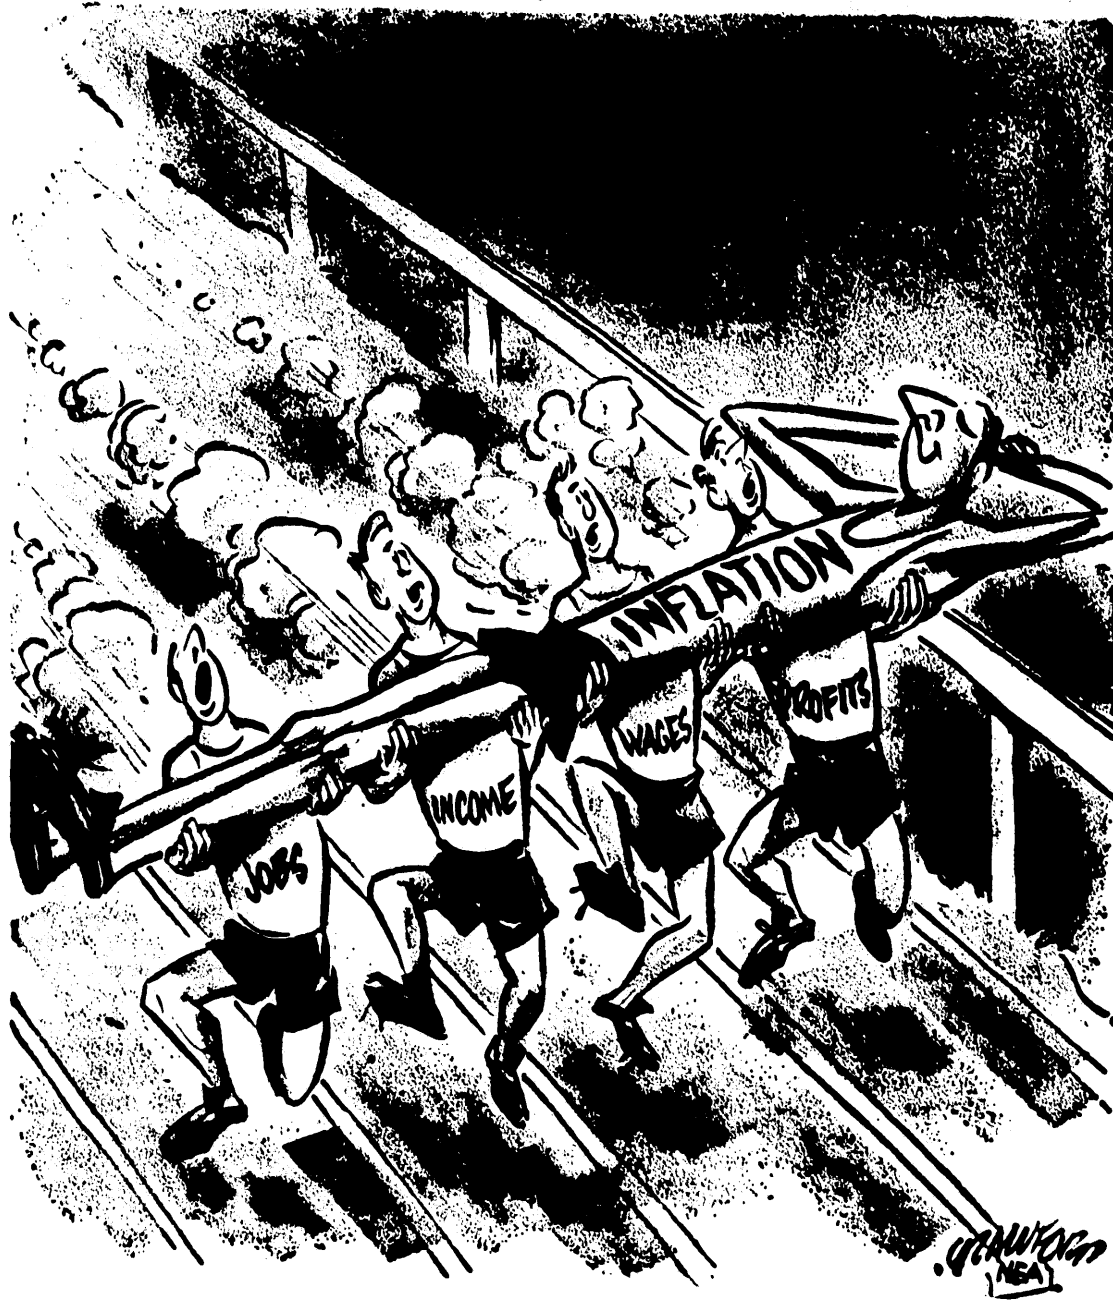

Lacking a postgraduate degree in quantum electrodynamics, not to mention the mental equipment that is prerequisite for same, we have to take their word for it.

Which is bad enough. But we didn't understand the old Newtonian universe either.

Power Expansion

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Plans to spend $8 million this year in the Grand Rapids division for two substations were announced Thursday by Consumers Power Co. Gordon L. Carson, division manager, said the outlay would be part of a record $134 million to be spent on expanding and improving the utility firm's services in Michigan this year.

Heck of a Way to Run a Race!

Surgeons Make Heart Advance

CHICAGO (AP) — Surgeons are leaping ahead with bold and brilliant new "plumbing" inside the human heart.

It is plumbing in the sense of putting in new "pipes" to feed blood into disabled hearts, or in cleaning out rusted natural pipes.

And it has come along so well, a California heart specialist said today, that now it could be possible to bring relief to perhaps half of the millions of people suffering from crippled hearts.

Further, said one pioneering surgeon from Canada, new techniques should soon make it possible to predict blood flow to any part of the faltering heart.

New or improved surgical techniques were described to the American College of Cardiology, with initial results called encouraging.

The need for the plumbing is simple. The heart is a muscular pump whose walls get nourishing blood through four coronary arteries and their many branches.

When these become clogged with fatty "rust," heart attacks or painful or crippling attacks of angina ensue. Tissues once fed through a natural pipeline may die.

The surgical solution is sometimes to clean out the rusted pipes or — more and more — to put in some new piping, in ingenious ways.

Now it is possible to pinpoint the locations of blocked arteries, and then to choose what kind of plumbing will help the individual patients so that half might benefit, said Dr. James A. McEachen and associates from Saint John's Hospital, Santa Monica, Calif.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Royal Victoria Hospital in Canada said a goal, now in sight, is capability to redirect the blood flow by combined methods so that any or all blocked arteries are in effect bypassed.

Sixteen years ago, he developed a technique of cutting an artery in the chest — the left internal mammary artery — and inserting its freed end into tunnels created inside the heart muscle. The muscle then quickly develops small blood channels to distribute this extra blood.

Results have been improved by also removing some of the heart's lining, and covering part of the heart with a remarkable tissue from the abdomen — the omentum — which acts to bring more blood to the heart tissue, said Dr. Vineberg.

Now he also is trying to use the right mammary artery to reach the right side of the heart for 100 per cent coverage.

House Bill Hits Tax Loophole In Michigan Codes

LANSING (AP) — A bill to plug an $8 million loophole in the state inheritance tax law was introduced in the House Thursday.

The Measure, sponsored by Rep. Richard Young, D-Deerborn Heights, would bring Michigan in line with 47 other states. Michigan, he said, is one of three states that does not tax joint property when one owner dies nor does it tax money that is put in trust.

"Say a man in Michigan and his brother in Pennsylvania have joint ownership of property," Young said. "If the brother in Pennsylvania dies, the man in Michigan pays an inheritance tax to Pennsylvania. But if the brother in Michigan dies, the other takes the money out of the state without paying a tax."

As for trusts, he said, "the state has never been sure how to tax these—and so it never has."

Under his bill, the state would tax the trust at the highest possible rates—as is done in many other states and by the federal government. If it is later found to be too high, beneficiaries are allowed to file for rebates.

Issues For GOP

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The significant thing about the Republican's revived "big city" effort is that some key leaders think the "issue climate" is now good enough to give the program the kind of zestful lift it sorely needs.

The chief element in that climate, of course, is the war in Viet Nam. To a lesser extent, GOP spokesmen believe they can make points by arguing that President Johnson is over-reaching when he tells the nation it can have both guns and Great Society butter.

Much has been said about the fact that National Chairman Ray Bliss's 1961 big city report, aimed at improving sharply the Republicans' vote showing in major centers, was shelved with little action.

The larger meaning of that failure, however, was that the 1961 report overestimated the party's organizational shortcomings in the big cities and underestimated the need for the emotional fire that comes from good issues and a sense of cause.

The original report did note that the party must identify itself with the problems of urban citizens. But this concern was not really fleshed out. Time and the coming of puzzling new events like the Vietnamese war seem now to be lending a hand.

Proponents of the big city program are grateful for the assist. And they make it plain that they want any real filling out on the issue side to take the GOP toward the middle of the road.

The party's great departure from that position in 1964 underlined how much its big city showing is linked to party-and-candidate attitudes and programs.

Barry Goldwater as presidential nominee won just four of the 61 U.S. cities with 200,000 population or more. All were southern or border state cities. Richard Nixon had won 20 of the 61 in 1960, yet that vastly better showing was considered sufficiently bad to have served as spur to the 1961 Bliss report.

In 1964 the Republican presidential ticket hit its worst depths in Boston, where it corralled just 13.6 per cent of the vote. Providence, with 13.8, and Washington with 14.5 offered as little comfort.

The Goldwater-Miller line got just 19 per cent of its total national vote from the 61 biggest cities. Meantime, President Johnson was picking up nearly 26 per cent of his total vote from the very same source.

More than half of the President's 16-million-vote plurality was piled up in these 61 cities and adjacent areas.

Negro voters, of course, contributed heavily to this urban disaster for the Republicans. Only in Louisville, Philadelphia and Detroit did they give Goldwater as much as 10 per cent of their vote. In a flock of big eastern and mid-western cities, Negro percentages for Goldwater ranged down from 8.2 in New York to 3.6 in Chicago.

It is no accident, then, that two Negroes — one the prosecuting attorney for Louisville and the other an aide to Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton — were drawn into the late January GOP big city meeting here. Counsel of this sort is desperately needed.

The meeting achieves note also for having included a United Auto Workers official and a specialist in appeals to national minorities.

In what appears a minor manifestation of "white backlash," the Goldwater ticket advanced slightly over 1960 showings among Italian and Slavic voters. But the gains still left the GOP with only 20 per cent of the Slavic vote and 25 per cent of the Italian.

A 18-city meeting showing any real concern for the votes of labor, the national groups and the Negroes has to be put down as a possible real plus. The further big city meetings embracing nearly 60 other large cities, may help to show how deep this evident new zest among Republicans for the big city vote actually runs.

Finding The Way Ann Landers

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Among the many significant questions which Jesus posed in his day, there is one which prods the complacent in any age. He asked simply, "What do you do more than others?"

In that time the question revolved about loving one's neighbor. Jesus asked simply what merit there was in loving only persons who love you. What glory is there in just being polite? What real struggle in the business of loving one's enemy is illustrated by being nice to the family? The questions have the uncomfortable manner of nudging us beyond the mere standards of respectability.

A precise example of all of this is involved in the efforts to bring and to maintain peace, in giving oneself to the quality of living and thinking that encourages peace.

The world has witnessed an extraordinary commitment to the matter of peacemaking by professors, students and citizens around the country. Many of these people risk status, jeopardize security and exhibit a commitment that shames the complacent. One doesn't have to agree with a man in order to admire the quality of his devotion to his cause. The commitment is impressive. The question which is posed to the rest of us who assert that we love peace, "What do you do more than these?"

Or take another look. The problems of changing the pattern of the slums in our cities, renewing housing or any of the other demanding challenges that raise their voices ought to be apparent to all. There has been enough rioting and unchoked anger to make the issue obvious.

In the midst of this struggle have come some who propose to deal with the urgency by employing rudeness. They justify the use of the sneer in order to call attention to the plight of those who have been unable to raise a significant voice. To those of us who recoil from the method, there comes the concurrent question, "What do you do more than these?"

The old complacency about supporting the Golden Rule won't do. You don't pussy-foot through a revolution. Now will the real lover of justice stand up? Will the person who really sees his Maker in the life of his brother please stand up? Will the man who really loves peace and believes in spending himself for righteousness, justice and peace please stand up?

For if you love only those who love you what credit is that to you? Even tax collectors do that. And if you exchange greetings only with those in your own circle are you doing anything exceptional? Even the pagans do that much. No, you are to be perfect, like your heavenly Father.

Soda Jerk Can Be Nasty Too

Dear Ann Landers: It is apparent from your advice to the young fellow who worked in the ice cream shop that YOU have never worked the employee's side of the counter.

This poor kid was exasperated because people came in and asked what flavors they had (they had 28) and when he finished rattling them all off they said, "Oh well, I'll take vanilla."

He was sure they did it to annoy him and he wanted a snappy answer. You told him customers don't come in for snappy answers—they come in for ice cream.

As a person who has waited on the public for 28 years I can tell you that there are a lot of mean, miserable creeps in this world who take out their hostility on clerks, waitresses, and folks who can't tell them where to head in.

My first job was jerking sodas. I was 16. My boss told me that whenever I encountered a rude, arrogant, demanding person I should be courteous because that person was probably mad at somebody he couldn't talk back to and I was the substitute. His advice has helped me stay ulcer-free and reasonably sane. Please pass it on to other who have to take a lot of lip on the job.—SMILING SAM

Dear Sam: You were lucky to have such a wise boss. And cheers to you for following his advice. But—that little red choo-choo runs both ways.

While it is true that customers are often nasty, clerks can be pretty miserable, too. And the reason for the unpleasantness frequently has nothing to do with the encounter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am so disgusted with my parents I don't know what to do. Let me start by telling you that I am a 15 year-old girl. My parents got a divorce two years ago. I begged them not to, but they did anyway. I live with my mother.

Dad is over here at least three nights a week. When he is around mom talks in a fakey voice like she is on the stage. I have caught them necking on the sofa a few times and it is just nauseating.

Yesterday mom told me that the three of us are going to take a weekend trip. Dad has to go to Philadelphia on business.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting -- And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 25c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

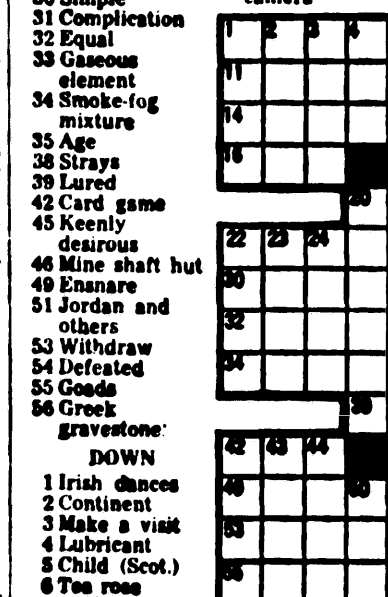

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosure a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ICE MINE

Coudersport, Pa., has a peculiar "ice mine." Ice begins to form in this cave in the spring and remains all summer, but, with the coming of winter, it melts away and the cave is free of ice all winter long.

Birthday Party For Judy McMahon

Judy Lynn McMahon was guest of honor at a birthday party held recently in honor of her 12th birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McMahon of Hyde.

Games were played and prizes were awarded each guest. The guest prizes went to Willie Wellman. A gaily decorated cake centered the dinner table. Guests attending the party were, Delores Corcoran, Shelly Wellman, Jeanne Dietrich, Karen Kleiman, Lorrie Hay, Jale Putnam, Linda Shilney and Susan Stenberg.

Social Club

The Escanaba Business and Professional Women's Club will hold their regular dinner meeting Tuesday at the Sherman Hotel. Mrs. Estella Erickson will speak on the topic, "The Woman and Her Money." Reservations may be made with Mrs. Lattie Frenchette or members of the finance committee.

Retreat Club Planning Buffet Supper

The monthly meeting of the Marygrove Retreat Club was held Wednesday, Feb. 2, at St. Joseph Church Club rooms. The meeting was called to order at 8 p. m. by Mrs. Walter Snyder, president.

The Day of Recollection will be held Sunday, March 13, at St. Anthony Church in Wells. All women are invited to attend. Transportation will be arranged.

A perpetual membership of Masses, and a memorial to the Marygrove Retreat House Garden were given in memory of Mrs. Phyllis Bowden, a former president of the Retreat Club.

The March meeting will be a buffet supper with Mrs. Alfred Anderson, chairman. Reservations will be needed, and members may invite guests. The date, time, and reservation information will be announced later.

Lunch was served by the committee with Mrs. Alice Seibert, chairman. A Valentine motif was carried out, cards were played and prizes were awarded at each table.

Leagues Meet For February Planning Session

A joint meeting of Rapid River Calvary and Stonington's Trinity Lutheran Leagues was held Wednesday evening at the Rapid River Church's parish hall. Plans were made for the Youth Sunday services which will be held at both churches on Sunday, Feb. 6.

An invitation from Rapid River's Congregational Youth Fellowship inviting the League to a Valentine party at the Rapid River Congregational Church parish hall on Monday, Feb. 14 was accepted. Calvary's Lutheran League will again operate a nursery for Calvary's mid-week Lenten services, beginning Feb. 23, Ash Wednesday. Recreation and refreshments were provided by Calvary's League, Ruth Gullickson, president.

Hospital Auxiliary Holds February Meet

The regular monthly meeting of St. Francis Hospital Auxiliary was held this week with Mrs. Irwin Gibbs presiding.

Mrs. Raymond Fish, chairman of the Workshop Committee gave her report. This committee of twenty members meets every week and are busy making items for the gift shop as well as pajamas and other needed articles for the hospital. They also held a successful candy sale at the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Byrns gave the report for the study group. A series of coffee and bridge parties are to be held in the member's homes as a money-making project for the auxiliary. These parties are to be given before Feb. 19 and proceeds turned in at the March meeting.

A general bake sale will be held on March 4 with the time and place to be announced later. Mrs. Roland Larsen is chairman.

The annual spring card party will be held on April 13 at the House of Ludington. Chairman for this project is Mrs. Jean Smith with Mrs. Charles Byrns as assisting chairman. The workshop will be in charge of making tallies.

Speaker for the day was Del Dabney, pharmacist at the hospital. He was introduced by Mrs. Earl Taylor.

Mr. Dabney gave an interesting history of pharmacy. He said that in spite of new drugs there are still many we revert back to that were in use hundreds of years ago. He gave several illustrations to show how these drugs were used even though the people of that era weren't sure what the result would be. He also spoke on the pharmacy at St. Francis Hospital and stated that they have 3300 different drug items and an inventory of $20,530.

John Haines also spoke briefly and thanked the auxiliary for work done and hoped they would continue to help the new administrators and the sisters at the hospital. Mrs. Charles Byrns thanked Haines for his co-operation on behalf of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Emil Vial, 1516 N. 16th St., and Mrs. Tom Paquette, Northland, returned from Rochester, Minn., Friday where they went through the Mayo Clinic.

4-H Club Meets

Mrs. Clifford Olson spoke to the Sunnyside 4-H members at their business meeting held Friday night at the home of Diane Porath. Her talk was on appropriate styles of garments for different types of girls of varying ages and how to select them.

Members decided to eliminate the club project at the County 4-H Fair which will be held at the Flat Rock Hall. A bake sale was discussed but nothing definite was decided.

The next business meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Paul Ault and will include a Valentine program. Each member will make an original Valentine. The meeting closed at 8 p. m. and lunch was served by the hostess, Diane Porath.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Bertyl R. Erickson returned Wednesday night from Minneapolis where they attended the New York Fur Auction. While there the B. R. Ericksons visited her brother's family, the Chester Stenbergs and the Jack Ericksons visited with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rudenberg, all former residents of this area. David Bolm, pre-seminary student at Gustavus Adolphus College at St. Peter, Minn., returned with the Ericksons for a vacation visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bolm.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Knauf and family visited several days with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Knauf in Newberry.

Rapid River

Royal Neighbors

The Royal Neighbors will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Johnson Sr. at 3 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Danforth

The Danforth-Soo Hill unit of the Delta Memorial Hospital Auxiliary met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Larson.

Lunch was served following the meeting. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hamberg on March 2.

Northern Rejects Father Slayer

DETROIT (AP) — A 19-year-old youth who was told by a judge to "go ahead with your school plans," now has been turned down by Northern Michigan University which previously had accepted him.

He is Kenneth Steve McClure and he pleaded guilty to manslaughter Thursday in the slaying of his father in suburban Romulus Township last March.

Cancelling the youth's scheduled admission next week, the university said it had not been aware previously of what it termed his "legal difficulties."

Steve was allowed to plead to a lesser charge of manslaughter, after having been charged with first degree murder. Manslaughter is punishable by anything from probation up to 15 years imprisonment.

His mother stood by Steve. Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn told Steve, pending sentence, to "go ahead with your school plans."

The state charged Steve bludgeoned and then strangled his father, Kenneth, 55, and then awakened an 18-year-old brother, Bruce, and the two of them placed the father's body in the family car, leaving it on a railroad crossing.

Police at first thought the elder McClure had been killed when a train hit his car, but footprints in freshly fallen snow led straight to the McClure home.

Steve was allowed to change his plea shortly after defense counsel, Joseph Louisell, had told a circuit jury the father literally had horsewhipped his children after stripping them and also had beaten this wife and made their home "a living hell."

Accepted by Northern Michigan for prelaw classes starting Monday, Steve wrote this week to Robert Bliss, director of admissions, asking if he could enroll next fall because of "personal reasons."

Shortly after news of the trial was out, Northern Michigan issued a statement saying:

"The NMU admissions office was unaware of McClure's legal difficulties when he was granted admission last fall. Had complete information been received with the application, final approval of the application would have been withheld."

"Robert Bliss, NMU's director of admissions, expressed deep personal concern over the young man's future and indicated he planned to have a conference with him in the next few months."

Bishop Pike's Son Is Suicide

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say a youth identified as the son of Protestant Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of California killed himself in a Manhattan hotel.

Papers on the body identified the victim as James A. Pike, 22, of San Francisco. He was shot to death in his sixth-floor room at the Hudson Hotel Friday.

News of the death was withheld from Bishop Pike until he had completed an address to the annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of California, which he heads.

When told he leaned forward and said hoarsely, "Oh, my God!" He quickly regained his composure and said later, "I just don't understand it. The boy seemed reasonably happy."

A spokesman said, "The bishop believes it almost inevitable that the dead boy is his son."

The bishop and his son had returned from England Wednesday. Pike continued to California for the convention and the youth stopped in New York to spend a few days.

Officers said the youth left a long, rambling suicide note that ended with the words, "Goodbye, goodbye." They declined to reveal the contents of the note.

Civil Rights Posted As GOP Leadership Aim

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Gov. George Romney said Friday night the Republican Party "is determined to reclaim its position of leadership as the party fully committed to equal rights for all."

Romney, speaking at a student civil rights conference at the University of Michigan cited the rapid buildup of the State Civil Rights Commission.

The commission, he said, "has attracted national attention with its bold attack on racial discrimination in all areas."

Romney said the commission started in 1964 with a budget of $360,000, contrasted to the $900,000 appropriation he is asking from the Legislature this year.

"The young people of America have made the Negro struggle their special burden," Romney said. "It will be largely up to you to repair the damage which has occurred because of the neglect and discrimination of the generations preceding you."

Plan Deer Yard Guided Tours

LANSING (AP) — Dates for a series of guided tours of northern Michigan deer yards were announced Friday by the Conservation Department.

Department field men will point out signs of overbrowsing and will lead the groups through areas where timber cuttings have been made to supplement food.

Starting points for the tours, all to be held on Saturdays, will be Feb. 12 at Baldwin and Gaylord, Feb. 19 at Mio and Kalkaska and Feb. 26 at Grayling and Manistee.

Later field trips are planned out of Gaylord, Atlanta and Tawas City if enough people are interested. Similar tours are planned in the Upper Peninsula, but the department will take legislators on a guided tour of deer yards in the Higgins Lake area on March 12.

Polaris Freed From Lake Ice

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Two ships trapped in Lake Michigan ice off this southwestern Michigan port were freed today by an icebreaking Coast Guard tug out of Chicago.

They are the Polaris, a tanker laden with 1.3 million gallons of gasoline and fuel oil for the Twin Cities port here, and the Coast Guard Cutter Woodbine out of Grand Haven, which got stuck herself when she went to the Polaris' rescue.

The ships were stuck about two miles out. The Woodbine carries a crew of 20; the Polaris 35.

U.S. To Fight India Famine

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has assured India "America will do more than her part" in helping to blunt the drought and famine that have led to growing riots there.

In a gesture of reassurance Friday, the President announced he had ordered stopgap emergency shipments of three million tons of wheat and sorghum within the next three months.

This action was announced at an impromptu news conference after the President had received first-hand reports that India's port facilities could handle up to a million tons of grain a month.

President Johnson told the news conference he expected to meet soon with India's new prime minister, Indira Gandhi. Mrs. Gandhi is expected to come to the United States in March after a budget session of the Indian Parliament. No official date has been set.

King Considers Resignation Of Belgian Premier

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — King Baudouin deliberated today whether to accept the resignation of Premier Pierre Harmel's government in the face of a threatened nationwide doctors' strike.

The government offered its resignation Friday after announcing it couldn't solve the dispute between the doctors and the state-run health insurance system.

The doctors announced they would cancel the strike, scheduled to start Sunday, if the king accepted the resignation and negotiations were resumed.

Baudouin was expected to consult party leaders and chairmen of both houses of Parliament before making up his mind.

If he accepts the resignation of the Socialist and Catholic coalition government, a political deadlock could result which would lead to elections within 40 days.

Actress Loses $15,000 Ring

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Tammy Grimes says she has lost an uninsured $15,000 diamond ring in her Malibu home.

Sheriff's deputies said Thursday that Miss Grimes had "torn the house apart" looking for the ring. She described it as containing one 10 1/2-carat stone and 15 one-carat diamonds.

QUEEN DIES

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The 500-year Yi dynasty of Korea ended Thursday with the death of its last queen, Yunki, who suffered a heart attack. She was the 72-year-old widow of King of Seonjong who died in 1928. Seonjong was deposed as monarch in 1910 when Japan annexed Korea.

WASHINGTON (AP) — All the signs are that Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., will not seek reelection this year but he declined today to say what his decision will be.

"I have no idea," he said. "The timing is not too important. There is no reason to be tied down on it."

Later, however, he said he thought he would make his decision known before April 1.

There has been wide speculation that McNamara, 71, now serving his second six-year term in the Senate, will step down this year and that G. Mennen Williams will resign as assistant secretary of state for African affairs to run for the Senate.

Asked about this in a separate interview, Williams replied, "I have no plans to resign."

However, Williams, who served 12 years as governor of Michigan, gave no indication that he might not change his mind.

Some sources pointed out that McNamara's delay in announcing his decision leaves Republican Gov. George Romney up in the air in regard to the possibility that he might run for the Senate instead of seeking reelection in the fall.

Romney is serving the last year of his second two-year term as governor. However, the governor elected this year will be chosen for a four-year term.

Romney has been widely discussed as a possible Republican candidate for president in 1968. If elected to a four-year term as governor, Romney would not be tied down with reelection plans in 1968 if he sought the GOP presidential nomination.

There is a feeling among some Republican House members from Michigan that Romney should seek another term as governor instead of trying for the Senate. They say he would then be in a better position to seek the presidential nomination than as a freshman Senator.

Even if McNamara decides to retire, as appears likely, there is no assurance Williams would have a clear road for the Democratic nomination for the Senate.

There is speculation that Jerome P. Cavanaugh, 38, mayor of Detroit, may enter the Democratic Senatorial primary if McNamara bows out, even if Williams announces he will try for the Senate.

Passed

LANSING (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dendzel promises the new House-approved veterans' tax benefit—a repeat of a bill vetoed last year by Gov. George Romney—will sail through the Senate and back onto Romney's desk.

Romney and minority Republicans in the Legislature promise they'll oppose the measure. The House approved the veterans measure on a near-party line vote of 67-28 Friday.

Disabled veterans and widows of all veterans now are exempted from property taxes on the first $2,000 of state-qualified value of their homesteads of $4,000 in real value. The Democratic bill would increase this exemption to $3,500.

Romney favors an exemption of $2,500 for the widows and veterans' exemptions ranging from $3,000 to $5,000 depending on amount of disability.

Dendzel called the Romney plan administratively unworkable and said it would pit veterans against each other.

"We know the plan we want and we'll send it right back to his desk," he said. "Veterans can still get the tax break for this year if the governor will sign the bill."

Teacher Fund Surety Voted

LANSING (AP) — The House passed and sent to Gov. George Romney Friday a bill to ensure that money always will be available to pay the pensions of Michigan's retired teachers.

The measure commits the state to a payment of about $88 million into the retirement fund in the coming fiscal year. The figure represents 11 per cent of the total Michigan payroll to teachers which is estimated at $800 million next year.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Lucille McCollough, D-Deerborn, provides for a 10 per cent contribution to match pension deductions of currently employed teachers and pay local school district's share of the Social Security tax.

One per cent would be used to cut away at the present deficit in the fund — that is, money the fund can be expected to pay out in the future, but which is not now on hand.

Peace Try Prof Flies To London

LONDON (AP) — Staughton Lynd, the Yale professor threatened with loss of his passport for going to North Viet Nam, said today he flew to London to demonstrate every American's right to travel freely throughout the world.

Lynd, who arrived Friday to take part in a television program as guest of the British Broadcasting Corp., is staying with a friend here.

In an interview, Lynd said the State Department had warned him of the possibility of having his passport withdrawn. But he said the letter informing him had not reached him by the time he left for London from his home in New Haven, Conn.

Flowers Mark Crash Area

TOKYO (AP) — Flowers bobbed in the icy waters of Tokyo harbor today where a Japanese jet airliner crashed with 133 persons aboard, three minutes away from a safe landing.

The flowers were dropped by relatives who were taken in a small coastal freighter to the site of what appears to be the worst single plane disaster in history.

The All-Nippon Airways Boeing 727, with 126 passengers and crew members aboard, slammed into the choppy Tokyo harbor as it banked toward its final approach Friday night.

The plane was crowded with Japanese returning from the annual snow festival on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. Most were carrying gaily wrapped souvenirs for family and friends.

Eighteen hours after the crash, nearly 100 bodies were still missing. Although it appeared almost certain no survivors would be found, airline officials declined to say all were dead.

Previously, the worst single-plane air disaster was the crash of an Air France Boeing 707 at Orly Field, Paris, June 3, 1962 when 130 persons died.

Cause of the Tokyo crash is still uncertain. Witnesses, including fishermen and seamen in the harbor, reported seeing a huge fireball erupt in the sky. It was not known if the fireball occurred before or after impact.

Sub-Zero Cold Hits Peninsula

By The Associated Press

An arctic air mass with its core south of Lake Michigan spread freezing temperatures again to the Gulf Coast today.

The middle Canadian border region, traditionally the nation's coldest spot, was warmer than the South.

Cut Bank, Mont., had a reading of 34 above zero an hour after midnight, one degree warmer than Tampa, Fla., where the mercury showed 33. Dickinson, N.D., with 28, was warmer than New Orleans' 26.

At 2 a.m. EST, the lowest official reading was 10 below zero at Terre Haute, Ind. Evansville, Ind., on the Ohio River, had 9 below zero. The sub-zero zone covered upper Michigan, Eastern Wisconsin and Illinois and south and central Indiana.

Most of the nation was clear, dry and cold. The exceptions were the Pacific Northwest and the eastern Great Lakes through the Appalachians to New England where there was some snow and flurries.

The north and central Pacific Coast continued to receive some light rain, with amounts generally less than one-quarter inch.

New England Friday had irregular snowfalls, with some heavy local accumulations including 8 inches in 6 hours at Bedford, 14 miles northwest of Boston — which got only 6 inch.

Farmers Urge Comp Reforms

LANSING (AP) — The president of the Michigan Farm Bureau urged the Legislature Friday to make the Workmen's Compensation Law, as it applies to farmers, less expensive and less confusing.

Elton Smith also congratulated the House and Senate Labor committees for recommending a one-year postponement in the effective date of the law to May 1, 1967.

The new workmen's compensation provisions passed last year would require farmers to provide coverage if they hired three or more workers for 13 or more weeks a year.

Smith said the proposed insurance rate of $8.35 per $100 payroll would add to "the farmer's already sky-high costs."

and I was fortunate to serve my country in this job when Africa was opening up," Williams said.

If Williams resigns, the man most prominently mentioned as a successor is Ambassador Joseph Palmer, director general of the Foreign Service and one of the department's top African experts.

Williams is the senior assistant secretary of state and the only one who has held that post since the start of the Kennedy administration in January 1961.

In fact, Williams was the first man appointed by Kennedy, on Dec. 1, 1960. Kennedy announced that "I have asked Gov. Williams to accept a position of responsibility second to none in the new administration: assistant secretary of state for Africa. This is the first appointment I have announced and I am proud that Gov. Williams has accepted this responsibility."

Cavanagh Gets Hoffa Backing

DETROIT (AP) — James R. Hoffa said Friday his Teamsters Union would "certainly go all-out" in support of Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh if he runs against former Gov. G. Mennen Williams for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Hoffa told a news conference that during Williams' third term as governor of Michigan he renegeed on a series of promises. He declined to give details.

Williams now is assistant secretary of state for African affairs. He is considering running for the Senate if Patrick V. McNamara decides not to run again this year.

Cavanagh has said he is looking into the possibility of running no matter whether McNamara seeks reelection.

Rapid River High To Celebrate Homecoming

RAPID RIVER—Rapid River High School will celebrate homecoming week Feb. 7-12. The week will be filled with special activities climaxed on Saturday with the homecoming basketball game and dance, and the crowning of the school's homecoming queen and king.

The homecoming activities were planned by the faculty and a student council delegation. Sandy Gibbons, Bill Morin, and Cindy Safford. The week will begin with 7-12 grade classes competing in relay games directed by teacher, Mrs. Joanne Gillis.

Tuesday will be designated as purple and gold day (the school's colors). Points will be given to each class member wearing purple and gold clothing. High School teacher, Bill McGovern, will referee the "Wednesday White Ball Matches." Thursday will mark education day with classes competing in the TV game, "Password." The game will be judged by instructors, Mrs. Fran Phillips and Mrs. Dorothy Nichols.

Dramatics will make a debut on Friday when students from the respective classes will present original skits which will be judged and graded by high school advisors, Miss Sue Emerson and John Panko.

The class accumulating the most points for the week's activities will be awarded the coveted homecoming activities trophy. The winner will be announced at the close of the homecoming celebration.

Braves End Losing Streak By Beating Holy Name, 78-57

GLADSTONE — Coach Bill Wood's Gladstone Braves shook off the first period miseries here Friday night and halted an eight game losing streak by trimming the hapless Holy Name Crusaders, 78-57.

It looked bleak for the Braves early in the game, however, as Holy Name broke for a 14-7 lead and carried a 14-13 edge at the end of the first quarter.

Gladstone gathered its forces in the second frame, however, and swept into a 31-28 edge at the intermission.

The Braves assumed full command late in the third quarter and won going away as Mark Goodman reached a season-high single game scoring total of 27 points. Dick Anderson and Keith Apelgren also reached double scoring figures as Gladstone registered its third triumph against 10 setbacks this season.

Both teams ran into considerable foul trouble. Gladstone lost the services of Anderson, Apelgren and Russ Sargent with five personal fouls. Holy Name lost Tom Plouff and Jim Anderson via fouls.

The Braves dominated the rebounding department with 44 to Holy Name's 35. Anderson hauled down 12 and Sargent eight. Sargent was seeing action for the first time since being sidelined for two games by illness.

Coach John Butrymowicz's Crusaders went down to their 14th straight defeat of the season in spite of their third highest scoring effort of the campaign.

Three Crusaders hit in double figures with Smith scoring 15, Plouff 14 and Tom Menard 11.

Gladstone clicked on 30 of 74 shots from the field for 40 per cent and added 18 of 33 free throw attempts. Holy Name connected on 20 of 73 from the field and 17 of 34 from the lane.

Gladstone also won the jayvee game, 59-53.

Carney Crushes Pembine Outfit

CARNEY — The Carney Wolves downed a completely outclassed Pembine quint, 67-36, in a Big Seven game here Friday night.

The Panthers carried only seven players into the contest, lost Jim Jakups with an injury in the second quarter. Ed Sackett on fouls in the third quarter and Al Dunlap on personals with three minutes to go in the game.

Coach Bob Kuntze played all 12 members of his squad and 11 of them contributed to the scoring total, led by Tim Moran with 12 points.

Miss Diane Wethuhn was crowned homecoming queen at halftime ceremonies.

Carney won the junior varsity game, 45-43.

DAVE NYQUIST, 6 foot 5 inch junior center, puts up a sweeping shot for two points in action against the Menominee Maroons here Friday night. Esky Gets Revenge From Maroon Cagers

Escanaba branded Menominee's hide with a big "R" for revenge at the Esky gym Friday night, whipping the Maroons by an 83-62 margin.

One of the top turnouts of the season saw Coach Harold Johnson's cagers in one of their most impressive performances. The Eskymos played with two left feet, to say nothing of hands, in the first quarter and faced a 10-point deficit at the end of the period. But they straightened out to cut Menominee's lead to two points at halftime and took command in the third period to win with ease.

The victory was Escanaba's eighth straight and 10th in 13 starts for the season. In an earlier meeting of the teams at Menominee, the Maroons trounced Esky, 82-65.

In the final analysis, the Maroons were unable to match the Eskymos in shooting and rebounding. The visitors displayed a devastating full court press through the first quarter, but couldn't maintain the pace and Coach Bob Krysiak called it off in the second frame.

The Eskymos killed the Maroons with a balanced attack that had four players in double figures, headed by 6 foot 5 inch Dave Nyquist who turned in his best performance of the season with 27 points and 22 rebounds.

Rick Kuchenberg tossed in 22 points, Paul Miller 20 and Steve Oman 10 for the Eskymos while Oman handled 13 rebounds and Jim Boyle 11. Escanaba out-rebounded Menominee by a 49-39 margin.

Menominee scoring twins

The Tigers jumped off to a 12-8 lead in the first frame, boosted their margin to 32-17 at the half and were never threatened.

The victory was the 12th in 14 starts for the Tigers who were paced by David Smith with 24 points and Bill Hawrylow with 23 rebounds.

Tim Stankevitz led Alpha with 21 points.

The Tiger jayvees won the preliminary game, 64-40.

Hoffa Tells Union Plans For Professional Athletes

By The Associated Press
James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has organized an impressive array of sports leaders—against his plan to unionize professional athletes.

Hoffa, in Detroit, said Friday that his union is embarking on a campaign to enlist players from "baseball, football, basketball, hockey, et cetera" in a giant union that would be a separate division of the Teamsters.

Hoffa's announcement came after the disclosure that one of his assistants, Charles (Chuck) O'Brien, had met this week with veteran members of the National Football League's Detroit Lions, who were reported to be disgruntled over their salaries.

O'Brien said he got "a good reception" in talking with more than a dozen members of the Lions. But Hoffa's announcement drew a chorus of wry comment from various sports leaders.

"Why doesn't he try to organize corporate presidents?" quipped Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League.

"No Discontent
"I think Hoffa has about as much chance of getting baseball players in his union as I have of getting to the moon without a rocket," said Philadelphia pitcher Jim Bunning, an executive council member of baseball's Players Association.

"To successfully organize a group, I think there must be some discontent," said Bill Jennings, president of the New York Rangers. "I know of none in the National Hockey League."

"We can make truck drivers out of 'em (football players) real easy," snapped Lions' owner William Clay Ford.

But despite the quips, there also were some serious thoughts on the subject with Foss and Ford paying particular attention to pro football's problems.

Only Thursday Ford had confirmed that veteran Lions had met and discussed demanding $2 million in increased salaries and bonuses for next year before finally dropping the plan. There also have been other rumblings in pro football with direct references made to the fabulous contracts being handed out to rookies.

What's The Beef?

"The football players," said Foss, "have their own organizations, they get the salaries of company vice presidents, they have a good retirement set-up, so what could their beef?"

Then, the World War II flying ace and Medal of Honor winner added:

"I have been through two wars and may be headed for another. I have been in the service 35 years and I can't look forward to retirement advantages that these football players have after five years."

"When you get Hoffa or one of his aides saying this," said

Ford, "you certainly aren't going to take it (organizing attempts) lightly. We will pursue the thing."

Larry Wilson, player representative for the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals who recently were reported to have held a meeting similar to the Lions, had this to say:

"The subject of forming a union has been discussed in the past at meetings of our association. It was decided two years ago that we did not want a union."

Major Items

Baseball's new commissioner, Gen. William Eckert, said, "the players have their own organization. I have noticed only the finest relationship between players and owners."

In detailing what a union could offer pro athletes, O'Brien said job security and pensions would be major items.

"Look what happens to a player when he gets injured and can't play," said O'Brien. "He often ends up with nothing."

"Most people don't realize that the ordinary ball player doesn't make much money. People think they do because they hear of the large salaries that some of the stars get."

He also said that many athletes would join a union if they were not afraid of the image they would create with the public.

MORGAN THE PIRATE—Houston second baseman Joe Morgan had a fine rookie season in 1965 batting .271 in 157 games. He also had 14 home runs and stole 20 bases.

Pro Basketball Cellar Battle

By The Associated Press
There's a terrific struggle going on in the National Basketball Association—and it's not only at the top of the Eastern Division.

Boston holds a 1½ game lead over Philadelphia and a 2½ game bulge over Cincinnati in the three-way Eastern race. The Celtics won their fourth in the last five, 117-95 over St. Louis Friday night.

But down at the bottom of the East, New York's Knickerbockers are in a life and death struggle with the Western Division cellar dwelling Detroit Pistons. And in this one, the loser comes out on top.

The Knicks and Pistons are running about even for fewest number of NBA victories and the team that finishes with the poorest record gets first shot in the college draft. That could mean Michigan's All America Cazzie Russell.

So every game between Detroit and New York takes on an air of importance that last place teams seldom enjoy. Friday night, New York clipped the Pistons 115-113 for their 18th victory of the season. Detroit has won 17.

In Friday's only other game, the Los Angeles Lakers jolted Cincinnati 132-125.

Precarious Lead For Catfish In Bob Hope Meet

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—It was plainly a case of fisherman trying to catch a catfish today in the fourth round of the five-round $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

The "Catfish" is good-natured Harold Kneece, who got the nickname when he fished for same as a kid in South Carolina and still answers to it.

The angler is Bill Casper Jr., who admittedly would rather fish than golf.

Kneece, from Aiken, S.C., went into today's round with a precarious lead of only two strokes over Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, who came on with a rush Friday with a 7-under-par 65.

Their 54 holes scores: Kneece, 68-68-69-205; Casper 69-73-65-207.

But with 36 holes remaining, this was still not just a two-man struggle for the $100,000 winner's share of the $100,000 purse.

Five shots behind the "Catfish" was Doug Sanders, a seasoned tournament pro, while Arnold Palmer, notorious for his come-from-behind performances, was seven shots off the pace.

Weather prospects again were good as the 128 pros, each paired with three amateurs in the final round of pro-am part of the competition today, stroked away over the four par 72 country club courses in use. The round was slated for national television (NBC) 4-5 p.m. EST. Sunday's final round will be aired at 3:30-5 p.m. EST.

The 34-year-old Casper was in better position today than he was a year ago at this same stage. He was three shots behind the leader in 1965.

Among other contenders to be reckoned with are Don Massengale, the surprise winner of the Bing Crosby Tournament last month, who was tied at 211 with veteran Al Bessellink and Phil Rodgers.

Palmer was deadlocked in the Mike Souchak, who had a 67 Friday.

Ken Venturi, with 72-72-71, trailed well back at 215, while the first round leader, Jack McGowan was in the 213 bracket along with such players as Al Geiberger, Dave Marr, and Bruce Crampton.

Casper's 65 was the lowest of the tournament thus far.

Colorado Barely Misses Surprise

By The Associated Press
Colorado State University almost pulled off the upset of the college basketball season against unbeaten and nationally sixth-ranked Texas Western Friday night.

Playing at home in Fort Collins, the little regarded Rams led the Miners from El Paso with 89 seconds left before Bob by Joe Hill's 20-foot jump shot at the final buzzer gave the Miners a 68-66 victory, their 16th straight.

Harvard, Wyoming, Arizona and The Citadel did come through with upsets while the idle UCLA Bruins, the national champions, fell out of first place in the Pacific Athletic Conference for the first time in three years. Oregon State and Stanford won to move past the Bruins.

Harvard, paced by Keith Sedlacek's 29 points, whipped Princeton 68-41 at Cambridge, Mass., to drop the defending Ivy League champs into a triple tie for first with Pennsylvania and Columbia.

Wyoming, playing on the road, edged Arizona State 78-77 on Mike Eberle's jumper from the head of the key with 1:59 left. Arizona went two overtimes on its home court to beat New Mexico 89-77. Free throws by Bob Hansen and Bou Spahn in the second extra period put Arizona ahead for good and gave the Wildcats their first victory in the Western Athletic Conference.

The Citadel moved out of the Southern Conference cellar with 88-70 home court whipping of the favored Richmond Spiders. George Delzell's jump shot in the last three seconds gave Colgate a 64-63 road victory over Lehigh.

Oregon State downed California at Berkeley, Calif., 77-72 while Stanford trimmed Oregon 81-64 at Palo Alto, Calif. The victories gave Oregon State and Stanford each a 4-1 record in the PAC compared to UCLA's 3-1.

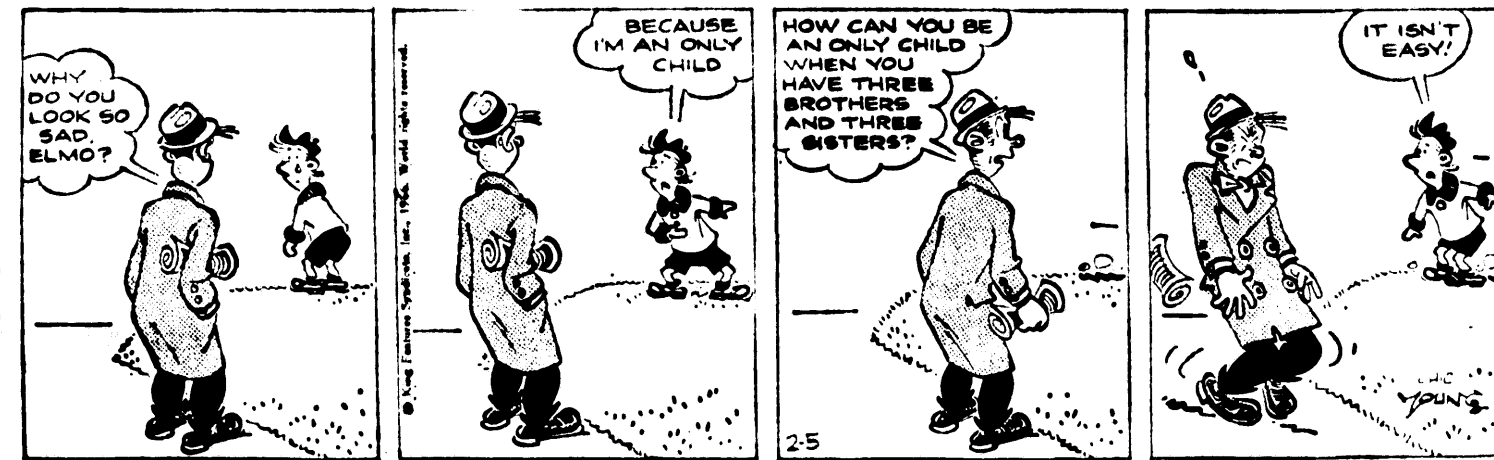

Columbia, upset on its home court last week by Yale, turned the tables on the Eli in New Haven, Conn., 102-90 behind Dave Newman's 26 points. Similarly Cornell, upset by Brown at Ithaca, N.Y., downed the Bruins on their home court in Providence, R.I., 86-68. Penn whipped Dartmouth on the road 76-61 behind Jeff Meuman's 27 points. Princeton, Penn and Columbia each are 5-1 in the Ivy standings with Cornell right behind at 4-2.

Texas Western was the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

... and it makes him sick!

Another looks at the world and his heart stirs with hope.

The first has seen only the world itself . . . full of evil, injustice, ugliness, pain.

The second has seen more than the world. He has seen God . . . Who is not content with the world as it is . . . Who offers men the spiritual tools with which to change their earthly environment . . . Who promises divine help and lasting reward.

For the man who is tired of scowling at life the Church has a message . . . and a mission.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
